

WISGOP Daily Update

--Eager volunteers across the state took to the phones and their feet Saturday as part of the Republican Party of Wisconsin's 100-Day Dash to Election Day. Volunteers beat the original goal of 65,000 calls and 6,500 doors with more than 70,000 calls made and over 9,000 door-to-door visits. The Republican National Committee announced today that Wisconsin's efforts on Saturday topped all other states. Read more on WISGOP News.

*Thanks to the concerned constituents across the state who helped spread the GOP's message of fiscal conservatism.
It is because of your volunteer efforts that the 100-Day Dash was such a great success!*

--The success of Republican gubernatorial candidates in five manufacturing states, including Wisconsin, could very well indicate the success of the GOP in 2012. Experts say that a victory in any of the five "Rust Belt" states could portend a good year for Republicans in 2012 presidential elections. In Wisconsin, a recent poll shows that either major Republican candidate would crush the Democrat candidate. With the midterm elections less than 100 days away, things are looking promising for the GOP! Read more on the WISGOP Blog.
